LETTER FROM THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

It gives me great pleasure to announce our first PA-Sired, PA-Bred Series for 2yo's!! The series will begin this year and consist of stakes races just for PA-Sired, PA-Bred colts & fillies. So, if you currently have a 2yo, make plans to shoot for the series beginning on August 22, PA Day at the Races. More info is available on pabred.com. This series is just another addition to what is already the best breeding program in the country.

Recently we made another donation of $150,000 to New Bolton Center for equine biomarker research. We are on the forefront of breeding organizations donating to this cutting edge research. The teams at New Bolton Center are making great strides, and we look forward to what it means for the future of the industry. Read more in this issue of the Thoroughbred Report.

If you haven't sent your mares, don't delay. A maiden breeder award for PA-Sired PA-Breds is a whopping 50%, and 40% for all other races. Non PA-Sired awards are 25% and 20% respectively.

Plans for our annual awards banquet honoring the champions of 2021 are underway. This year's celebration will finally be held in person again! Save the date: May 13th at The Inn at Mendenhall, located on Kennett Pike in Chadds Ford. Our guest speaker this year will be the Triple Crown-winning jockey of Affirmed, Steve Cauthen!! Don't miss it. Our annual meeting will be held at the Kennett Square Country Club on May 4th so look out for invitations to both.

PA foals of 2022 have started to arrive! Send us your foal photos with lineage, foaling date and location to be included in the 2022 Foal Gallery on the website and be featured on our social media accounts. Email photos and information to pabreeder@pabred.com.

As always, if you have any questions about our program or if you're interested in joining the Thoroughbred breeding industry in Pennsylvania, please call our office at 610.444.1050. Go PA!!

JUST ONE TIME BRINGS THE EXCITEMENT

A farm favorite turned stakes winner.

BY EMILY SHIELDS

In the weeks leading up to a race, Donny Brown has trouble containing his excitement. And if he wins? Cue more weeks of overflowing thrill.

Thanks to Just One Time, Brown is currently riding a high. The Pennsylvania-bred daughter of Not This Time—Ida Clark, by Speightstown, won the Grade 2, $200,000 Inside Information Stakes at Gulfstream Park on Jan. 29, defeating a strong field by three-quarters of a length as the 3-2 favorite. She now sports a record of five wins in six starts, including three stakes.

Brown's Warriors Reward LLC has had several solid runners including multiple allowance winner Proposition and the remarkably consistent Little-bitalily. But from the day she was born, it was clear Just One Time was a cut above the rest.

"She was a farm favorite as a baby," Brown said. "We had high hopes for her going into training."

The "we" in question includes Tom McClay, Brown's racing partner. Together they bought Warrior's Reward, a Grade 1-winning son of Medaglia d'Oro, and brought him to stand in Pennsylvania at WynOaks Farm. Just One Time is just the next big thing the duo have going, along with some 24 broodmares. Missing among them is Just One Time's dam Ida Clark.

"We were happy with the foal we got, so we sold the mare," Brown said of Ida Clark. "She had developed commercial value so we let her go through the auction ring so we could get a new mare. In hindsight, it was a bad move."

Ida Clark cost the partners $45,000 when they bought her in foal to Not This Time in 2017. Six months later, her first foal, the More Than Ready gelding Black Stetson, won a listed stakes race at Aqueduct, with Just One Time hitting the ground two weeks earlier. Ida Clark got in foal to Outwork and was sold for $60,000 only 13 months after Brown and McClay bought her.

The sting of her loss is eased by the success of Just One Time. "She went in with our regular trainer Mike Salvaggio at Penn National, and he informed us that she could run a little bit," Brown said.

He recalled when a rival trainer first noticed Just One Time on the track, and called to sing the filly's praises. "The people that watched her could sense it," Brown said. "She has always been on everybody's radar."

"[Salvaggio] took his time with her and did everything right," he continued. "Instead of coming right out as an early 2-year-old he let her mature and develop. But even in those early morning gallops and breezes we had an idea that she'd be a good runner."

Run she did. Just One Time reached the races at the age of 3 and broke her maiden in her Penn National debut last May 14, scoring by a half-length after vying for the lead throughout. In start number two, she added the $102,695 Malvern Rose Stakes on the synthetic surface at Presque Isle Downs in July, rolling home four-and-a-quarter lengths in front.

"She can be a little sharp," Brown said. The filly's enthusiasm was her undoing in her third start, the $75,400 Lady Erie Stakes in August. Under jockey Angel Rodriguez, she dueled for the lead through

fractions of :21.60 and :43.96 before fading to seventh in the lone loss of her career.

“Angel said she was too motored up,” Brown explained. “She wanted the lead even though they were going so fast. She used herself up early.”

Just One Time hasn't been beaten since. She took an allowance race on a sloppy track by six-and-a-quarter lengths on Sept. 22 before returning to stakes company to win the $121,295 New Start Stakes by nearly that same amount. Her speed and obvious talent drew the eye of Todd Mostoller, who bought in with his Commonwealth New Era Racing.

“He approached us wanting to buy her,” Brown recalled. “His syndicate has a good group of guys.”

Just One Time made another move, too, out of Pennsylvania and into the barn of top trainer Brad Cox. After training at the Fair Grounds, Just One Time shipped into Gulfstream Park in Florida for the Inside Information Stakes.

After acting up in the gate, Just One Time broke behind her usual speed, ran seventh early, ended up reeling in the field and won by three-quarters of a length under Joel Rosario. She ran the seven furlongs in 1:23.81.

“The phone's been ringing a little bit,” Brown said, “but we're going to keep going to the races with her.”

Just One Time has returned to the Fair Grounds and is pointing for graded competition at Keeneland this spring, possibly in the Grade 1 Madison, worth $500,000 to be run April 9 at seven furlongs.

“Everyone around her always knew she could run,” said Brown. Just One Time proved it on a major stage as the Inside Information came on the Pegasus World Cup-G1 undercard.

It's possible that Brown will have enough down time between starts that his excitement level will return to normal before revving up again. But with nearly two dozen mares in foal to Warrior's Reward – and another expected to drop a Not This Time in March – Brown has plenty to keep his meter high. “We are really hoping that the Warrior's Rewards run well this year, because not only does he have the bulk of his foals born in Pennsylvania but he also covered mares from six other states,” he said. “He's our number one favorite, but Not This Time is number two.”

As the sire of Just One Time, Not This Time's importance to Brown checks out! ■

PA HORSE BREEDERS DONATE $150,000 TO PENN VET NEW BOLTON CENTER FOR BIOMARKER, BLOOD DOPING RESEARCH

KENNETT SQUARE, PA (March 1, 2021) - The Pennsylvania Horse Breeders Association (PHBA) announced today a $150,000 donation to the Equine Pharmacology Laboratory at the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine's (Penn Vet) New Bolton Center that will support continued revolutionary research in equine biomarkers.

The new round of PHBA funding – which will expand on the cutting-edge research that the PHBA helped to fund in 2018 - will bolster three key research initiatives focused on improving the health and safety of equine athletes and enhancing integrity in racing. One area of research seeks to identify novel mRNA biomarkers that can help proactively predict if a horse is at risk for injury, even for injuries that are difficult or impossible to detect using conventional methods. Ultimately, researchers hope to develop a rapid stall-side blood test that could be administered prior to a race, helping racing officials accurately detect horses that may be at an elevated risk.

The funding will also support Penn Vet's sample collection for continued development of an Equine Biological Passport through the expansion of the Equine Pharmacology Laboratory's BioBank. Samples from the BioBank are analyzed to determine baseline levels of blood-based biomarkers found in racehorses. Once established, these baseline levels can be used to determine if blood samples taken from a horse pre- or post-race show any variations from baseline indicative of illness, injury or prohibited substances.

“The PHBA is very proud to continue its partnership with Penn Vet by providing an additional grant of $150,000 to fund this incredibly important and timely research program,” said Deanna Manfredi, PhD, a member of the Pennsylvania Horse Breeders Association's Board of Directors. “This research program has the potential to have a very positive impact on the sport we all love and ensure its continued success through advances in preventing breakdowns, promoting equine health, and enhancing racing integrity.”

“Studies are ongoing to develop an Equine Biological Passport using a variety of biomarkers,” said Dr. Mary Robinson, Director of the Equine Pharmacology Laboratory at New Bolton Center. “For example, we now have potential protein and mRNA biomarkers of extracorporeal shockwave therapy that are being investigated using our Equine Biobank samples. This work would not have been possible without the support of the Pennsylvania Horse Breeders Association, who have provided the funding to expand and maintain the Equine Biobank, and the support of the Pennsylvania State Horse Racing Commission for my laboratory.”

“I'm proud to see the continued collaboration between the Pennsylvania Horse Breeders Association and New Bolton Center. This partnership promotes integrity and safety in the horse racing industry,” said State Representative Christina Sappey, who represents the 158th State House District. “The highly advanced research developed by Penn Vet's New Bolton Center is critically important to protect equine athletes, and PHBA's generous support makes this possible. We're fortunate to have both of these organizations that benefit all Pennsylvanians here in the 158th!”

In addition to the Pennsylvania Horse Breeders Association's support, Penn Vet's New Bolton Center is also seeking additional funding to further expand and accelerate this research program. Individuals or organizations who would like to support the program through a financial donation are encouraged to contact Margaret Leardi, Director of Development for New Bolton Center, at mleardi@vet.upenn.edu.

PENNSYLVANIA HORSE BREEDERS ASSOCIATION ANNOUNCES 2-YEAR-OLD PA-SIRED PA-BRED STALLION SERIES

Taking the next step in utilizing the state's lucrative Breeding Fund to enhance the breeding industry, the Pennsylvania Horse Breeders Association has established its first ever 2-Year-Old PA-Sired PA-Bred Stallion Series, with $600,000 in stakes purses to be offered in 2022. The series will consist of two stakes races on each of two race days at Parx Racing. One race each day will be open to all 2-year-olds and the other for 2-year-old fillies.

In January, the PHBA Board asked the stallion principals for suggestions on how to enhance the program and build it. The board immediately and overwhelmingly acted on the PA-Sired PA-Bred Stallion Series idea presented by the racing committee.

"This is a collaborative effort between the PHBA and reaching out to people who know best what's the best way to attract new stallions and breed more mares in the state," said PHBA President Greg Newell. "Part [of this new series] is to have an immediate impact, and part is to encourage people over the next three or four years to breed in the state."

All registered PA-Sired PA-Bred 2-year-olds are automatically eligible. The horse must be registered with the PHBA, and must have been conceived by a registered Pennsylvania stallion. In 2022, there are no nomination, entrance or starter fees.

The first races in the series will be run on Pennsylvania Day at the Races, August 22. The two $100,000 stakes will be contested at 5 1/2 furlongs.

One month later, PA-Sired PA-Breds juveniles will be running for $200,000 purses on the Pennsylvania Derby Day card, September 24, at a distance of 6 1/2 furlongs.

"I think this is the most exciting thing to happen in the state of Pennsylvania in breeding and horse racing in 20 years," said Bob Hutt, president of Uptowncharlybrown Stud LLC, which owns and manages Uptowncharlybrown, one of the state's most successful sires. "We will have broodmares staying in Pennsylvania and being bred to Pennsylvania sires, which will only improve the stallion colony as more and more people see what we're doing with the series.

"Other states have done this, particularly Florida, which has done it successfully for 40 years," said Hutt. "Breeders with eligible Pennsylvania-sired 2-year-olds will get offers, at the 2-year-old sales or after breaking their maidens early. Buyers and trainers are going to be aware that the series races will be coming in years to follow. Now we have a series where we can showcase them."

The series will expand in 2023 with three days of PA-Sired PA-Bred Stallion Series stakes.

"We're getting [our 2-year-old stakes schedule] moving along faster," said Newell. "And these races will blend in nicely with the existing PA-Bred stakes schedule.

"This isn't a one-year one-hit wonder," Newell continued. "Our message is anything with breeding needs to have long-term commitment in order to take the risk. We're really committed to helping our stallion owners and our farms succeed. This is a start. Next year we'll refine it more and we'll keep doing that to improve it."

IN MEMORIAM

Donald R. White

Donald R. White, of Levittown, passed away on January 17th. He was 76 years old. He was a proud member of the United States Army's Special Forces unit known as the Green Berets. After his military service, he owned his own stable, Don White Racing Stable, as a stakes winning Thoroughbred horse trainer for over 40 years. His favorite part of horse training was the challenge of preparing young Thoroughbreds for their new racing careers. He also enjoyed playing golf and watching sports. Donald will be deeply missed by his many friends, his racing family associates, and especially by his loving wife, Jane (Obst) and his children: Michael Rosenbaum (Tammie), and Stephanie White, as well as his grandson: Jan Michael Rosenbaum and his sisters: Dorothy Hansley and Linda Gurganus (Johnny).

CABIN CREEK FARM PROVIDES DIVERSITY FOR PENNSYLVANIA BREEDERS

BY NIKKI SHERMAN

Nestled within the rolling hills of south-central Pennsylvania lies Cabin Creek Farm in Bernville. Lined with triple-paneled white fencing, the land is home to more than 40 Thoroughbreds with a variety of pedigrees, including four stallions.

Farm manager Maria Vorhauer is proud of the diversity amongst her breeding stock. "I'm a little bit from the old school," she proudly noted. "Everyone wants the Into Mischiefs or the Tapits. But for me I'm excited that we offer more diverse options, especially for Pennsylvania breeders. For me the most important thing is that I have stallions whose offspring have great minds."

Vorhauer mentioned her now-retired stallion Sir Shackleton who boasts a lovely classic pedigree. A son of Miswaki out of the Star de Naskra mare Naskra Colors, Sir Shackleton earned over $1 million on the racetrack before retiring to Kentucky for the 2007 breeding season. The handsome chestnut is now enjoying a life of leisure at Cabin Creek Farm after standing in Pennsylvania since 2010.

There was no doubt that Vorhauer was going to be a lifelong horsewoman. Father Chuck Vorhauer trained Quarter Horses and Appaloosas in Collegeville, Pa., and his daughter wanted to follow in his footsteps as she watched him take horses to prestigious competitions like Congress and the World Championships.

"All I had to do was figure out how to make money doing it," she said with a laugh.

Since that was right around the time that the state was slowly starting to consider slot machines, a trek into the Thoroughbred industry caught her attention. She was offered a free mare and bred the mare to her own stallion Sonsetta. That first foal, Tims Valentine, broke his maiden at Philadelphia Park second time out by 13¾ lengths - not a bad return on her investment at all.

As she learned more, Vorhauer became farm manager at several farms both in Pennsylvania and Maryland. But there was something in her heart that kept pulling her back to Berks County, Pa. Several owners approached her about standing their stallions in the Keystone state, and finally she moved back home when Cabin Creek Farm became available.

"I've had really good luck here and I just love being in Berks County. I'm here to stay!" Vorhauer said. "You do struggle through the ups and downs, especially through Covid and the governor. But we're staying positive and kicking on."

In 2020, Ice Box joined the stallion roster at Cabin Creek. The son of Pulpit won the Florida Derby-G1 and finished second in the Kentucky Derby-G1. With a flashy pedigree, Ice Box was an exciting addition to breeders in Pennsylvania. His best offspring include graded stakes-placed Dubby Dubbie ($647,602) and 10-time winner Its Cold in Dehere ($399,200).

Vorhauer adores Ice Box. "That's my man. He's one of the coolest, most laid back horses I've ever met. I can turn him out in a paddock right next to the mares and he won't bat an eye."

Another addition to the stallion roster came thanks to Olympic gold medallist Bode Miller, who had met Vorhauer and respected her horsemanship. He purchased stakes winner Red Vine, a gorgeous son of Candy Ride (Arg). Red Vine was always on the board in tough graded stakes including the Breeders' Cup Dirt Mile-G1, Cigar Mile-G1, Pacific Classic-G1, Kelso Handicap-G2 and Salvator Mile Stakes-G3.

Red Vine's first crop hit the ground running in 2021. His first winner was Vine Jet, who broke his maiden in a $100,000 maiden special weight at Parx Racing on Pennsylvania Derby Day. Out of the Van Nistelrooy mare Our Girl Friday, Vine Jet finished third in the Pennsylvania Nursery Stakes and most recently dominated a $55,690 allowance event at Parx Racing on Feb. 8.

"Red Vine was the best decision we ever made," said Vorhauer when asked about her interactions with Miller. “Before he even bought [the stallion], he reached out to me. I recently told him he’s going to see some nice things about him in the next few months and now they’re starting to see a return on their investment.”

Also on the stallion roster is nine-time winner Unfettered. The gray stallion by Rockport Harbor will catch your eye from far away. This is why Unfettered will be offered to warmblood sport horses as well as Thoroughbred breeders in 2022. Unfettered has not been available for long, but is already the sire of a winner from his only starter. Ifwhizkycouldtalk broke his maiden by six and a half lengths at Parx Racing on Jan. 12.

The world changed for the staff at Cabin Creek Farm upon an exciting announcement at the beginning of this year. Lentenor, a full brother to Kentucky Derby-G1 winner Barbaro, had joined the Pennsylvania stallion ranks. Because Lentenor has a legion of fans, Vorhauer needed to prepare the farm for visitors.

About 30 Penn State students and several Lentenor fans attended an event presented by the Pennsylvania Horse Racing Association and Pennsylvania Horse Breeders Association on Thursday, Feb. 17. Even those students who were not quite interested in horse racing perked up as they watched Lentenor approach the group.

Vorhauer was excited to participate in the program, and even invited her own mentor from long ago to attend. Vorhauer was one of Mary Miller’s first students when she became an Agriculture teacher at a career technical center.

“Mary taught for 38 years. What made all the difference in the world is that she really, truly believed in her students,” Vorhauer told the group. “Make sure you follow your hearts and put everything you have into your career choices. Use your professors to learn everything you possibly can. Without Mary, I wouldn’t be where I am today.”

As the group turned back to face Lentenor, Vorhauer relayed the stallion’s accomplishments. The son of Dynaformer was a solid racehorse, winning the Kitten’s Joy Stakes at Colonial Downs and setting a new course record of 1:40.95 for 1 1/16 miles at Tampa Bay Downs. As a sire, Lentenor is already the father of stakes winner Uphold ($276,281).

Lentenor came to Cabin Creek Farm by way of owner Ryan Campbell, who purchased him from the famed Calumet Farm. Ironically at first Vorhauer wasn’t ready for another stallion. Campbell finally convinced her and she doesn’t regret it one bit.

“Lentenor fit right into our program and he’s doing well. We’re pleased with the responses we have for him. He’s very reasonable for a Dynaformer. And Ryan is offering breeders’ bonuses to help the breeders as well as the owners. He’s truly a great addition to Pennsylvania,” Vorhauer said.

When Campbell announced the news on his personal Facebook page, the joy was impossible to miss.

“It is hard to explain the excitement that my daughters and I are experiencing knowing that the horse we have loved for the entirety of his life will permanently be joining our family.”

And Campbell has truly found the right place for his beloved stallion to live out his days even after stallion duty. The majority of the horses on the Cabin Creek property are horses that Vorhauer has rescued or simply retired. She feels that the horses who are providing her livelihood put their hearts and souls into racing and that they all deserve a life after racing or breeding.

As her father Chuck Vorhauer said quietly while Maria was discussing the stallions, “She’s forgetting about all of the retirees out there in the fields. Every one of these horses know when the trailer pulls into that driveway, they’re finally home.” ■
